

On Tuesday, 8th of June, the partnership of COMMONS project is holding an international conference in Rome, dealing with "The sustainable management of Common Lands: A European perspective".

Experts from 10 EU countries will meet and discuss about agriculture and environment in common lands, EU models in the management of natural resources, practical strenghts and weakness of the principles and models recently proposed by the economic theory through the Nobel Prize Elinor Olstrom.

The meeting website:

<http://www.common-interreg.eu/>