

'One Earth, One Passion' is an allusion to the 'fire' that burns in the hearts of the many organic stakeholders who, every day, contribute to the furthering of the organic vision all over the world. Whether these 'organic hearts' show their passion by traveling across the world to IFOAM's Organic World Congress and General Assembly in South Korea, or volunteer their time to participate in our committees or task forces, it is clear that without them the organic world would be so much poorer. (...)

The website:

http://www.ifoam.org/organic_without_boundaries/

The Report:

http://ifoam.org/public/Annual%20Report/IFOAM_Annual_Report_2011_web.pdf