

New Report On the State of Polar Regions

Scritto da Administrator

The U.S. National Research Council has just released a synthesis of reports from thousands of scientists in 60 countries who took part in the International Polar Year (IPY) 2007-08, the first in over 50 years to offer a benchmark for environmental conditions and new discoveries in the polar regions. (...)

The article:

<http://www.sciencedaily.com/releases/2012/04/120403193733.htm>

The website:

<http://www.ipy.org/>

* * *

International Polar Year Conference 2012 seeks to translate knowledge to action:

<http://www.wmo.int/pages/mediacentre/news/InternationalPolarYearConference2012seekstotranslateknowledgeaction.html>

* * *

Climate change - Arctic passes 400 parts per million milestone:

<http://www.csmonitor.com/Science/2012/0531/Climate-change-Arctic-passes-400-parts-per-million-milestone>